Sample Pet Agreement for Alberta Renters

Why do you need a written agreement?

Pets are not addressed under Alberta’s Residential Tenancies Act so it is up to the landlord to decide whether pets are allowed in the rental property. The residential tenancy agreement (the “lease”) should clearly state whether or not pets are allowed. If the landlord allows pets in the rental property, then any pet rules should be fully explained to the tenant. A written pet agreement can help avoid problems between the landlord and the tenant in the future.

What should a Pet Agreement say?

The attached sample Pet Agreement contains some terms that may not apply to your situation, so it should be adapted to fit your particular situation. Additional terms should be added if they are needed. Before agreeing to terms in an agreement, the landlord and tenant should get legal advice.

Name of Landlord (the "landlord")

AND

_________________________________________________________________
Name of Tenant (the “tenant”)

THE LANDLORD AND TENANT AGREE AS FOLLOWS:

1. Permission

   The tenant is permitted to keep the pet described in section 3 of this agreement in the rental property.

2. Condominium Board Approval

   A. Is condominium board approval needed for pets to occupy the rental unit?
      ☐ Yes ☐ No

   B. If approval is needed, then who is going to get this approval from the board?
      ☐ Landlord ☐ Tenant

3. Pet Details

   Name of Pet: ________________________________
   Type of Pet: ________________________________
   Description: ________________________________

4. Tenant’s Responsibilities

   The tenant is responsible and liable for any damage or injury caused by the pet, including but not limited to: damage caused to or in the rental property, and common areas.
5. Pet Policy, Bylaws and Rules

The tenant will obey the pet policy of the building (if any), condominium bylaws and rules on pets (if any). The tenant accepts that any breach of the pet policy, condominium bylaws or rules could result in the tenancy ending.

6. Landlord’s Entry

A. The landlord has the right to enter the rental property without notice if there is reasonable cause to believe that:
   a. a pet has been left alone
   b. a pet is in distress
   c. a pet is creating a disturbance or
   d. any other emergency situation appears to exist

B. The landlord must try to contact the tenant before entering the rental property.

C. After entering the rental property under section 6A of this agreement, the landlord may need to make reasonable arrangements for the pet’s care. The tenant agrees to reimburse the landlord for any reasonable costs for the pet’s care.
